2023 POSTCARD STORY CONTEST

Feeling the desire to create? Willing to write a short, short story? Your story may be fiction or non-fiction, sweet or creepy, satirical or heart-breaking, hilarious or haunting. It may revolve around howling road trips or silent midnight spectacles, boxed surprises or eerie lanes, alien customers or untied shoes—the choice is yours. Just aim for writing that takes your reader on a swift, concise journey, one where every word counts.

Be sure to provide an image that complements your story. You may create your own image (an illustration or photo) or use an image within the public domain. The tie between your image and your story may be as strong or subtle as you wish.

CONTEST RULES AND GUIDELINES:

- Any currently enrolled Langara student.
- Write a 250-word “postcard story” and provide an image that complements your story.
- Double space and use 12-point font.
- Do not put your name on your story; on a separate cover letter, put your name, phone number, email address and Langara ID. Include your story’s word count.
- Submissions must be original and unpublished.
- E-mail submissions (Word file) to charvey@langara.ca. Manuscripts and images will not be returned.
